

FAC Spotlight: Finance Cabinet Receives 39 Safety Awards

June is National Safety Month

June, recognized as National Safety Month, is a fitting time for the Executive Safety Advisory Committee (ESAC) to announce safety winners for calendar year 2014. At the June 30 ceremony celebrating safety in state government, plaques and certificates were given out to recognize 137 cabinets and agencies for achieving a record of no lost time injuries in 2014.

The Finance Cabinet received a plaque for the sixth year in a row. Plaques were also given to the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, Education & Workforce Development Cabinet, Energy and Environment Cabinet, Finance and Administration Cabinet, Labor Cabinet, Personnel Cabinet and Department of Military Affairs.

"Safety of our employees is paramount," said Sec. Lori Flanery. "I applaud the focus on safety and congratulate everyone who had a part in our safety efforts."

Winners are recognized for their commitment to workplace safety and employee education. Reduction in the number of work-related accidents and illnesses helps to reduce worker's compensation costs and improve employee productivity and morale.

Congratulations to the 39 Finance Cabinet winners. They include:

PERSONNEL MOVES

Effective July 1, Jennifer Linton and Andy Casebier were appointed to new positions in the Dept. for Facilities and Support Services.

Jennifer Linton will now be the executive director of the Office of Facility Development and Efficiency. She has been in state government for 17 years, 10 which have been with the Division of Engineering and Contract Administration (DECA). Linton graduated from Georgetown College with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Finance. She lives in Franklin County, with her husband, Jason, and their two daughters.

Andy Casebier will now serve as the director of Division of Engineering and Contract Administration moving from his current position as associate director of the Kentucky Projects Branch. He has been with the department for 16 years and state government for 21 years. Casebier received his Bachelor's of Architecture from the University of Kentucky and has been a registered architect in the state since 1989. He resides in Franklin County with his wife, Michele, who owns Candleberry Tearoom and The Gift Box.

"The department for Facilities and Support Services are in good hands with this team and acting Commissioner Charles Bush at the helm," said Secretary Lori H. Flanery. "We are fortunate to have their experience and expertise especially as we continue to orchestrate significant projects like the new state office building and energy efficiencies."

"The CSE program is a great program that I learned a lot from," said Cary Bishop. "I'd highly recommend it to existing supervisors, as well as those who are thinking about taking their career in that direction."

Last year the Governmental Services Center (GSC) launched the program to prepare current and potential managers to supervise within the regulatory framework of the Commonwealth's Executive Branch. The inaugural class included four Revenue employees who were certified: Melissa Bowling, Michael Cox, Sandy Logan, and Jill Shifflett .

Women Veterans to be Honored at Special July 11 Event at Traveling Vietnam Wall

Wall on display July 9-12 at KY Horse Park; open 24 hours a day

Kentucky's women veterans, especially those of the Vietnam War era, will be the focus of a special event at the Traveling Vietnam Wall on Saturday, July 11 at 5 p.m.

"Athena's Sisters has been working closely with the Ky. Dept. for Veterans Affairs to recognize military women statewide and intergenerationally the past year in honor of 2015 Year of the Veteran Woman," said Lindsay Gargotto, founder and CEO of Athena's Sisters. "We hope to create something we can keep for all military women in our community. During this special time we will be storytelling with Vietnam veteran women and engaging in a creative activity to show the strengths and uniqueness of each and every military woman who joins us!"

A total of 1,104 Kentuckians died in the Vietnam War. In addition to appearing on the Traveling Wall, their names are inscribed at the permanent memorial in Frankfort, where a shadow falls on each veteran's name on the anniversary of death. There are approximately 111,000 Vietnam veterans living in the Commonwealth.

Visitors to the Traveling Wall are encouraged to leave photographs, flowers or other mementos to loved ones. KDVA asks that everyone attending this special showing of the Memorial Wall respect the request of the Wall's sponsors to not bring weapons when they visit.

Visitors to the Traveling Wall will be able to enter the Horse Park and park free of charge. After it opens at noon July 9, the wall exhibit will be open 24 hours a day through 3 p.m. Sunday, July 12.

The American Veterans Traveling Tribute wall, an 80-percent scale model of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial wall in Washington, D.C., will be on display at the Kentucky Horse Park from noon Thursday, July 9, through 3 p.m. Sunday, July 12. Eight feet high and 360 feet long, this memorial provides an electronic locator to help visitors find the names of particular service members carved in the wall.

Athena's Sisters is a nonprofit grassroots organization run by and for military women for physical and mental health care access and education.
